RITA RAGNI

Rita Ragni is an artist originally from Pennsylvania, who began her career in design by working on her iPhone. After relocating to Nashville, and discovering On The Avenue, Rita decided to become a part of our creative training studio and focus on growing as an artist. On The Avenue has provided the tools for Rita to flourish in her artistic passions. Diagnosed with autism in her early twenties, as many females on the autism spectrum are, Rita shows great resolve in overcoming any obstacles to chase her goals. On The Avenue nurtures and provides opportunities for Rita to grow in her endeavors. Rita is also an incredible friend, teammate, and mentor; and a major success story here On the Avenue.

SHANE BURKS

Shane came to us On The Avenue looking for work in our warehouse and discovered his creative talents. After training to colorize images in Adobe Illustrator, it was obvious that Shane had a true gift. Shane's love of classical history has inspired his Greek-style statue portraits. Shane infuses his own personal touch to these pieces by utilizing pastel colors, and the occasional pair of sunglasses.

JOHN DRAWDY

As one of the first diagnosed cases of autism in the state of Florida, John is the wise veteran of the group. John came On The Avenue having never used a computer. In just a few years, John has learned to type on a keyboard, send his first email, and even use Adobe Illustrator to create his own art pieces. John is living out his dream of being an artist. John's quote defines our attitude at On The Avenue, "Ya'll ain't ready for my creativity."
